GDPR AND LED IMPLEMENTING REGULATIONS 2018

Approved by Tynwald:

Coming into Operation:

1 July 2018

The Council of Ministers makes the following Regulations under section 5 of the Data Protection Act 2018.

PART 1 – PRELIMINARY

1 Title

These Regulations are the GDPR and LED Implementing Regulations 2018.

2 Commencement

If approved by Tynwald, these Regulations come into operation on 1 July 2018.

PART 2 – PROVISIONS SUPPLEMENTARY TO THE APPLIED GDPR

Purpose

9 Purpose of this Part

- (1) This Part supplements the applied GDPR, on the basis that the GDPR is automatically law in Member States and was accordingly written in a manner which lends itself to application and enforcement with minimal supporting or supplementary provisions in actual Member State law.

(Note that, in accordance with regulation 4, the Island is “deemed” to be a Member State solely for the purposes of these Regulations. This is merely for ease of reference and, in reality, does not have the effect of conferring on the Island actual membership of the EU. The Island is therefore not an “actual Member State”.)

- (2) There is a difference between “the GDPR” and “the applied GDPR”, which is as follows –
 - (a) “the GDPR” is the original EU instrument and applies to all “actual Member States” of the EU; whereas
 - (b) “the applied GDPR”¹⁰ is the Island’s version of the original.

The “applied GDPR” applies to the Island as part of the law of the Island and is distinguishable from the original based on the exceptions, adaptations and modifications evident in it.

- (3) Accordingly, this Part relies on (but does not replicate) provisions already in the applied GDPR which confer clear rights, responsibilities, duties and obligations on specified legal persons and natural persons.
- (4) This Part also requires every controller and processor to which the applied GDPR applies to comply with the registration requirements in Schedule 7.
- (5) Schedule 9 specifies restrictions and exemptions to the application of the provisions of the applied GDPR. Those restrictions and exemptions are in addition to the restrictions specified in regulations 20 to 24 or specified in regulations made under regulation 25.
- (6) The principles relating to the processing of personal data are set out in Article 5 of the applied GDPR.

¹⁰ See the definition of this term in regulation 5(1).

*Lawfulness of processing10 Lawfulness of processing: public interest etc

In Article 6(1) of the applied GDPR (lawfulness of processing), the reference in point (e) to processing of personal data that is necessary for the performance of a task carried out in the public interest or in the exercise of the controller's official authority includes processing of personal data that is necessary for —

- (a) the administration of justice;
- (b) the exercise of a function of Tynwald and its branches;
- (c) the exercise of a function conferred on a person by an enactment; or
- (d) the exercise of a function of the Crown, a Department or a Statutory Board.

*Child's consent11 Child's consent in relation to information society services

PART 3 – LAW ENFORCEMENT PROCESSING

CHAPTER 1

Purpose and scope

26 Purpose of this Part

- (1) This Part makes provision to give effect to the applied Law Enforcement Directive.
- (2) The Law Enforcement Directive, being a “Directive” as distinct from a “Regulation” (which the GDPR is)¹³, is written in a style that indicates that it requires laws other than itself to be made to give effect to it. The Law Enforcement Directive contains numerous provisions that use language such as “Member States shall provide”; in some instances, provisions state that “Members States shall provide by law”.

¹³ Under EU law, “Regulations” are automatically binding on all Member States and typically leave relatively few matters for Member States to address by discrete domestic legislation. By contrast, “Directives” are not generally written in a manner than lends itself to direct application without the need for Member States to enact discrete domestic legislation to put in place the legal rules that the Directives require. There remains, however, a legal obligation on Member States to take the steps mandated by Directives, which invariably means the enacting of discrete domestic legislation is obligatory.

- (3) Accordingly, this Part complies with stipulations such as those referred to in paragraph (2) by expressly making provisions of the type the Law Enforcement Directive mandates. In most instances the provisions of this Part follow very closely the language of the corresponding, expressly identified Articles of the applied LED. However, they differ from that language to the extent required to impose the specific obligations that the corresponding Articles of the applied LED demand be imposed.
- (4) In these Regulations —
 - (a) the considerations specified in paragraphs (2); and
 - (b) the description, set out in paragraph (3), of the approach to giving domestic legislative effect to some provisions of the LED,apply equally to the provisions specified in paragraph (5).
- (5) Those provisions are —
 - (a) in Part 4, regulations 63 to 66 (data protection officers under the applied LED); and
 - (b) in Part 5, regulations 70 to 74 (transfers under the applied LED).

27 Processing to which this Part applies

- (1) This Part applies to —
 - (a) the processing by a competent authority of personal data wholly or partly by automated means; and
 - (b) the processing by a competent authority otherwise than by automated means of personal data which forms part of a filing system or is intended to form part of a filing system.
- (2) Any reference in this Part to the processing of personal data is to processing to which this Part applies.
- (3) For the meaning of “competent authority”, see Article 3(7) of the applied LED and regulation 28.

 - (a) under paragraph (2)(a); or
 - (b) made for the purposes of both paragraphs (2)(a) and (b),are subject to the affirmative resolution procedure.

 - (b) is the controller by virtue of paragraph (2).

 - (b) the controller has taken subsequent measures which ensure that the high risk to the rights and freedoms of data subjects referred to in paragraph (1) is no longer likely to materialise;
 - (c) it would involve disproportionate effort.
- (4) In the case described in paragraph (3)(c), the controller must instead make a public statement or otherwise engage in public communication that has the effect of informing data subjects of the breach in a manner and to an extent that, in the opinion of the Information Commissioner, is appropriate in the circumstances.
- (5) If the controller has not already communicated the personal data breach to the data subject, the Information Commissioner, having considered the likelihood of the personal data breach resulting in a high risk, may require it to do so, or may decide that any of the conditions referred to in paragraph (3) is met.
- (6) The communication to the data subject referred to in paragraph (1) may be delayed, restricted or omitted subject to the conditions and on the grounds referred to in Article 13(3) of the applied LED and regulation 42(3).
